Two-Way Move Develops In House To Provide Greater Aid To Finland

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A two-way move to provide even more aid to Finland than is contemplated in the bill which passed the senate developed in the house today.

One group of representatives advocated removing the restriction from the senate bill which limits a loan to any one country to $20,000,000. Another urged an additional project direct and unrestricted loan to the beleaguered Finns.

These developments came as the house banking and currency committee opened hearings on the senate bill and called Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones as the first witness.

So-Called Finnish Loan

As it passed the upper house, the so-called Finnish Loan Bill increases the capitalization of the Export-Import bank by $100,000,000, and provides that no single country can receive more than $20,000,000 of this and that none of it can be used for the purchase of arms or other war materials.

Although no country is named in the measure, it is frankly designed

State Is Gradually Returning To Normal After Battling Storm

(International News Service)

Pennsylvania returned to some degree of normalcy today as road crews and thousands of extra workmen struggled to free snowbound areas from the remainder of one of the hardest snowfalls ever to strike the commonwealth.

Weather forecasters looked forward to a bright day today followed by slowly rising temperatures and possibly rain or snow tonight or tomorrow.

Transportation in all sections of the state gradually assumed normal proportions, although in the less densely populated areas residents were still finding it extremely difficult to get around.

Rural Roads Blocked

In the Harrisburg area and in northwestern Pennsylvania rural roads were still impassable in many spot. Route 22 from Harrisburg toward New York, between Bethel and Allentown, and Route 422, from Harrisburg to Reading, between Myerstown and Reading, were considered the "worst snow plugged" in that district.

President Keeps Silent On Issues

Continues Cruise In Gulf Waters—No Statements Are Made

(International News Service)

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG, Feb. 16. President Roosevelt, cruising through Gulf waters, maintained silence today regarding his plans. The President's vessel, the cruiser Tuscaloosa, encountered moderately choppy seas after sailing from Pensacola, Fla., yesterday afternoon.

(An atmosphere of mystery surrounds the President's cruise, which, he conceded at a farewell press conference, might be devoted to both vacation and business. In addition, the Chief Executive refused to discredit or encourage a suggestion that a meeting on the high seas might be held with representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy.)

Warned by reporters that his no comment on the possibility of such a conference with foreign powers for peace talks inevitably would lead to various interpretations, Mr. Roosevelt insisted he had nothing to say.

New York Firm Low Bidders For Ship Building

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The New York Shipbuilding Corp., of Camden, N. J., today submitted a bid of $17,990,000 each for the construction of two 10,000-ton cruisers to the navy department, committing itself to complete both vessels within 39 months. This was the lowest bid submitted for the construction of two ships.

The same company asked $20,425,000 for the construction of only one ship, guaranteeing to complete it within 36 months.

The Bethlehem Steel company of Quincy, Mass., underbid the Camden firm for the construction of only one ship, offering to do the work for $19,200,000. However, its bid for two ships—$18,190,000 each—was higher than that of its competitor.

Bethlehem likewise guaranteed to complete one cruiser within 36 months or two within 39 months.

Both of the companies submitted bids on an adjustment basis, allowing them to increase the cost if the wages of labor should rise in the future.

Two New Castle Men Are Killed In Truck Crash

Truck Crashes Into Railroad Cars Near Worthington, Indiana Today

MESSAGE IS RECEIVED SHORTLY BEFORE NOON

Ralph Anderson And John Spiker Are Reported Victims Of Accident

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LINTON, Ind., Feb. 16.—Two men were killed today when a large truck they were driving crashed into the side of a northbound big four freight train near Worthington.

When the truck, a large semi-trailer en route to Washington, Ind., with a load of merchandise, smashed into the train two loaded coal cars were derailed and the truck was demolished.

One of the men killed was identified as Ralph Anderson of New Castle, Pa., and the other's identity was not learned immediately.

News of the fatal accident involving Ralph H. Anderson, 28, Savannah Road, and John Spiker, about 21, Highland Heights, was received by the local employer, the Bowman & Peebles trucking firm, late this morning.

Enroute Back

Anderson was the driver and Spiker was the helper on a truck which, according to reports, left New Castle Tuesday with a cargo destined for Chicago. They were enroute back to New Castle when the crash occurred, it is believed. It is not known here just what "merchandise" their semi-trailer was carrying back.

Joseph Bowman, Jr., head of the trucking firm, was reported this afternoon to be hurrying to the accident scene.

Both Anderson and Spiker are well known here. On their trips west they usually haul either pottery of the Universal Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Co., or steel from Elliott Bros. Bowman & Peebles are contract haulers for those concerns.

Victory Certain For Republicans Says Hamilton

G. O. P. Chairman Challenges Democrats To Name Roosevelt Again

DECLARES NEW DEAL TO GET KNOCKOUT

National Republican Committee Is In Session At National Capital

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—John D. M. Hamilton, Republican national chairman, today challenged the Democrats to nominate President Roosevelt for a third term, declaring that if they did the G. O. P. would wipe out "Franklin Roosevelt, the new deal and the third-term" issue next November.

Opening a special meeting of the Republican national committee—convened to select a site and date for the party's 1940 national convention—the red-headed Hamilton declared that only with Mr. Roosevelt as the Democratic nominee could there be a clear-cut issue and "a showdown on the New Deal".

Shows Confidence

Confident almost to the point of cockiness, Hamilton flatly predicted a Republican victory at the polls nine months hence and pictured the Democratic party as "so demoralized and embittered by internecine feuds that it cannot present a common front against us".

"We do not know who the candidate of the opposition will be," said Hamilton. "We can't select him, and their convention date, too.

"But if we had the power, the greatest service we could render this country would be to nominate as the Democratic candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Then we would have a clear-cut issue and once and for all we would have a showdown on the New Deal, Franklin Roosevelt and the third term—and we would finish off all three."

Hamilton's address preceded forenoon executive session of the committee to choose a convention date. This was to be followed later in the day by a session to name the convention city.

Considerable sentiment was reported to exist for a Fourth of July convention in Philadelphia for the purpose of dramatizing the GOP's claim to adherence to the fundamental principles of the founding fathers. Chicago appeared to be the only city slated to receive serious consideration as a convention site.

G.O.P. Convention Date Is June 24

National Committee Selects Date For Selection Of Presidential Candidate

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—The Republican National Committee today chose June 24 as the date for the 1940 G. O. P. convention after cheering a challenge to the Democrats to nominate President Roosevelt for a third term for a "showdown on the new deal" next November.

The action immediately boomed the chances of Chicago to become the convention city, its only rival, Philadelphia, having been previously accorded serious consideration on the basis of a 4th of July dedicated to a reaffirmation of the fundamental principles on which this nation was founded.

Chicago won the Democratic convention two weeks ago at a session of the Democratic national committee which chose a convention city, but delayed fixing a date pending the G. O. P. action today. Indications are that James A. Farley Democratic national chairman, will set the date for about July 8, now that the Republicans have acted.

Old Opera House At Monessen Burns, 37 Flee From Fire

No One Injured In Blaze, Set Damage At $15,000; Started By Engine Backfire

(International News Service)

MONESSEN, Pa., Feb. 16—A fire which did $15,000 damage to the old Monessen opera house building, the largest structure in Monessen, today caused 37 persons to flee scantily-clad into the cold.

The fire, starting in the basement from a back-firing electric power engine, quickly spread up the main stairwell and enveloped all eight floors.

Six families, aroused by the smoke hastily bundled blankets and coats about them and fled down rear stairs and fire escapes.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Klyllonen and their three children, aroused in their fifth floor apartment, escaped down a stairway that had just started to burst into flames.

No one was injured.

The Rev. W. L. Shovel, who with his wife and three children lives on the third floor, said:

"We were sleeping when smoke awakened us. We wrapped up our children in blankets and carried them out. My breeches was all I got except for shoes without socks."

He said the blaze began when an engine in the basement backfired oil on the floor ignited and set fire to the stairway.

Fire companies from Monessen and Charleroi kept the fire from spreading to adjacent buildings and a gasoline station.

Sweden Will Not Send Direct Aid To Finland

Swedish Government Is Determined To Protect Its Own Neutrality

Appeal For Aid Had Been Presented To Sweden By Finnish Government

By STEN HEDMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 16.—The Swedish government, determined to preserve its own neutrality, has rejected a request from Finland for direct military aid, it was announced by Premier Per Albin Hansson today.

An official communique outlining Sweden's attitude was issued coincident with a dispatch in the authoritative newspaper Aftonbladet declaring that the Finnish high command had advised Stockholm that Finland no longer was able to hold out against Soviet Russia alone.

Either two divisions of Swedish troops must be sent forthwith, the Finnish government declared, "or Finland will be compelled to apply for help from the western powers," Aftonbladet said.

Sweden's Stand

Sweden's inability to prejudice her own national independence and integrity by sending an army to Finland over and above the volunteers who are serving the Finnish cause was disclosed in the following communique:

"During visits to Stockholm members of the Finnish government have raised the question of aid by the supply of men.

Continue Probe Of Farm Murders

Expect Woman Will Recover

Farmer Slain And Murderer Is Then Killed With Same Shotgun

WOMAN FORCED TO PULL TRIGGER

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 16.—Authorities today continued to probe one of the most Macabre murder cases in this state's history as physicians treated a 26-year-old mother of two for shotgun wounds received, she said, in a vain attempt to save her husband from a murderer whom she was later forced to kill.

After struggling through almost impassable snow drifts for approximately 12 hours, detectives, police and medical aid finally reached Mrs. Ralph Caldwell. There they found Ralph Caldwell, her husband, a farmer, dead of a shotgun blast allegedly fired by Glenn Plants, 28, a dismissed farmhand, who held the gun's barrel against his own chest after the first slaying and forced Mrs. Caldwell to "execute" him.

Condition Not Serious

Hospital attaches at Washington hospital said Mrs. Caldwell's condition was not serious.

A police reconstruction of the crime revealed that when Plants had been fired he had threatened to "come back and kill somebody for this." He reappeared Wednesday night, police continued, and when Caldwell refused to admit him to his home, Plants fired through a door and killed him. Mrs. Caldwell was wounded when she flung her arms about her husband in a vain attempt to save him from the fire.

Plants then talked with Mrs. Caldwell for some time, according to the reconstructed story, forced her up stairs and then, holding the gun pointed directly at his own chest made Mrs. Caldwell pull the trigger.

SWEDEN WILL NOT SEND DIRECT AID TO FINLAND

ruary 13 when V. A. Tanner, finance minister in the Finnish government, conferred with the Swedish premier, foreign minister and defense minister.

"On this occasion, the question of sending Swedish troops to Finland was raised.

"From the Swedish side, Tanner was reminded that the guiding lines of Swedish help to Finland as laid down in the premier's speech to the Riksdag on January 17 were generally approved, and no change in this attitude has taken place."

Will Defend Independence

On January 17, Premier Hansson addressed the Riksdag, saying:

"Sweden will defend her independence.

"Any attempts to violate our neutrality will be met with all means at our disposal.

"We do not need any orders from abroad regarding our relations with Finland. We will judge for ourselves how best to serve the Finnish cause, and so will other northern states.

"But there is no question of any breaches of our neutrality, such as permission for transporting belligerent troops through Sweden or the use of bases on our territory."

This particular statement was made at a time when Soviet Russia was warning Norway, Sweden and Denmark against prejudicing their own neutrality by aiding Finland.

Since that time, the government announced, the Swedish government has received numerous requests from Finland for "supplies of necessities" which have been granted.

The question of caring for Finnish wounded and invalids and the transfer of Swedish civilian workmen to Finland "has led to certain measures being taken," the government disclosed.

Volunteers Sent

Sweden has sent volunteers to Finland and the majority of her workers contributed one day's pay to the Finnish cause.

Other indirect military and financial support has been given, but Premier Hanssen's announcement made clear that this country, determined to preserve absolute neutrality until or unless she is directly threatened by aggression, feels unable to do more.

Premier Hanssen's announcement was made following receipt of a general appeal from the Finnish government of Premier Risto Ryti warning that collapse of Finland's defenses against Russian military might was inevitable unless substantial outright aid was forthcoming from friendly natons.

The appeal did not ask specifically for a Swedish expeditionary force, but it has long been known that such an army would be welcomed with open arms by the harried Finns.

Swedish volunteer corps of anti-aircraft battery experts and aviators have proved of considerable aid to Finland, one report recently reached Stockholm to the effect that a lone Swedish airman had shot down six Soviet planes.

The sympathies of this country are entirely with Finland, but the government takes the attitude that any military measures not in strict conformity, with Seweden's frequently announced neutrality might seriously prejudice this country's independence and integrity.

Bus and train service were back on normal schedule in all sections except parts of Pennsylvania and New England where they suffered the worst disruption in years yesterday. The virtually complete blackout of train service Wednesday night and yesterday in New England, particularly in the Boston area, stranded hundreds of commuters and travelers. VICTORY CERTAIN FOR REPUBLICANS SAYS HAMILTON

New Deal left nothing to the imagination. In a scathing attack, he declared that the American people would welcome a change in national leadership "after seven years of New Deal debt, demagoguery and defeatism."

Reviving the 1932 Democratic platform which promised a 25 per cent reduction in federal spending, a sound currency and business free of government competition, Hamilton said:

"What a mockery the deeds of the last seven years have made of those words so solemnly uttered. Who I ask again, this year will trust a party and a party leader who made such promises and then so wantonly and shamefully disregarded them?

"But now say our opponents: 'Forget the promises—look at our record—see how we have restored prosperity.'

"And then we are showered until our heads swim with a bewildering mass of tortured statistics designed to wipe out the national debt—even to prove to us that the treasury has made a profit in the last seven years—statistics that are juggled around in a Houdini effort to demonstrate that by New Deal legerdemain we have achieved a new peak of prosperity and well being.

Can't Fool Anyone

"The whole show is too apparent to fool anyone, much less the nine million unemployed who still walk our streets looking for jobs; or for the four million young men and women whose hopes for a career and good life have been shattered; or for the farmer whose income today is less than in the late twenties when it was none too good; or the thousands whose businesses have failed in the last few years.

"Statistics," said Hamilton, "are poor substitutes for jobs."

The GOP chairman devoted the opening portion of his speech to jibes at the Democrats for delaying selection of their convention date until after the Republicans choose one. The Democratic national committee, meeting here 12 days ago, selected Chicago for its convention, but left the fixing of the date to National Chairman James A. Farley.

HOUSE SLATED TO PASS NAVAL BILL

(D) Nevada of the appropriations naval subcommittee remained adamant against protests of the navy over slowing up the shipbuilding program, and over a $21,000,000 cut in budget estimates for air expansion.

A battle was to be staged over a proposed $1,000,000 fund to improve the harbor of Guam, tiny island 1,500 miles from Japan. Foes of the appropriation declared that it would arouse unnecessary hostility from Japan and charged the move is the beginning of a $100,000,000 program to make Guam an Asiatic fortress.

STATE IS GRADUALLY RETURNING TO NORMAL

Brotzman held out a slight belief that the rain promised for tonight might turn to snow if the temperature failed to rise as high as anticipated, he held to his previous conclusion that there is no danger of flood in the Western Pennsylvania area.

Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and Philadelphia schools were open once again, although outlying rural and township schools were not expected to continue until Monday.

Air Travel Affected

High winds continued to hamper the work of road clearing crews.

Harrisburg reported that although there was no milk shortage there, other towns in the vicinity were facing a critical milk situation.

For the most part air travel last night was still grounded. The Pennsylvania railroad reported its trains were again operating on schedule. Bus lines reported their vehicles were getting through westward toward Chicago and thought they were also making progress toward New York in the early morning hours today.

Snowfall in some sections of Western Pennsylvania totaled more than 20 inches, but the official reading by Weatherman Brotzman was 16.3 inches. The previous record was 15 inches in 1902.

TWO-WAY MOVE In HOUSE TO AID FINLAND DEVELOPS

to provide loans to both Finland and China to aid them in their wars.

House leaders predicted speedy approval of this bill, but advocates of other measures to aid the Baltic republic announced they would press for passage of their schemes as well.

Would Refund $5,000,000

In a letter to Chairman Doughton (D) North Carolina of the house ways and means committee, Rep. Hook (D) Michigan demanded an immediate hearing on his bill to refund to Finland the $5,000,000 she has paid the United States on her so-called World War debt.

"This money would be entirely unrestricted, and Finland could use it to buy the guns and ammunition she so urgently needs," Hook declared.

The Michigan representative announced he was supporting the senate bill in addition to his own, but urged that the $20,000,000 restriction be removed. He said, however, he was afraid that, if the house amends the bill and gets into a wrangle with the senate, the measure might be delayed too long to do Finland much good."

Rep. Wolcott (R) Michigan, ranking G.O.P. on the banking committee, indicated that he, too, may urge removal of the senate $20,000,000 restriction.

"If this bill is designed to aid Finland—which everyone says it is—why should we place such a limitation on it?" he asked

Other members already have introduced a bill to make direct loans to Finland—including another bill by Hook calling for a $60,000,000 loan—and they announced they still hoped to get these measures adopted.

THE LITTLE NEUTRALS

RECENT reports from Europe indicate that the most unusual war over there may take a new and unexpected turn in the spring. At first, when the conflict started, most people had horrible mental pictures of cities destroyed by wholesale bombing, and thousands of men slaughtered in assaults on the Maginot and Seigfried lines.

But nothing like that has happened. Up to this time, the only nations really hurt have been two comparatively little ones —Poland and Finland. And many observers are beginning to wonder whether, when spring weather comes, the little nations may be in for some more punishment than their big brothers who started all the trouble.

With a stalemate existing in western Europe, many military experts are now of the belief that war will break out in the Balkans. The nations of southeastern Europe recently made a desperate effort to find a remedy for keeping out of the struggle. They don't want to fight, but it is doubtful whether they can keep from being drawn in. It will be remembered that Lord Churchill recently issued a statement to the neutrals warning them of what might happen to them if they won't join the allies and inviting them to "come on in, the water's fine."

At the same time Russia is said to have its eyes on Constantinople while Hitler is anxious to try to deal Great Britain a serious blow by assaulting its interests in the Orient.

It will be a sorry day for the little unoffending bystanders if they finally turn out to be the ones worst injured in this terrible but apparently senseless European struggle. At this time the United States is the largest and most powerful neutral. Fortunately our location and our size are such that it will be impossible for the warlords to coax us in if we keep our heads.

KANSAS CITY BEGINS A LONG STRUGGLE

Proven corruption, with new charges and scandals piled on, played a leading part in success of the preliminary move of the people of Kansas City to wipe out the once unbeatable Pendergast Machine. In Monday's referendum, by a vote of 95,000 to 17,000, and with 80,000 other voters staying home, Kansas City decided to rip out the Pendergast-ridden city administration elected for four years in 1938.

A whole new set of officials must be chosen, therefore, at an election set for April 2, and there are indications that Pendergast's organization will make its real battle at that time.

Chances are it will lose. The Pendergast lieutenants who were specialists in padding voting rolls are in jail for running the registration up to 260,000 in 1936. Perhaps some of the 80,000 who stayed at home are the same kind of Pendergast ghost voters.

All this cannot immediately be hailed as a triumph for local good government and the permanent passing of another powerful city machine.

What it does mean is that the people of Kansas City have taken back their local government for the time being, but they will have to keep working at it, on April 2 and for years to come, to prevent the rise of another corrupt organization on the ashes of the old.

THE SMALL BUSINESSMAN

Too often when the average man thinks of business in the United States he visualizes huge steel mills, utilities, railroads and broad-scale mercantile establishments. All of these great institutions have the proper place in the American economic life. But we must never forget that the backbone of the economic welfare of the United States is the small business man. It was the little fellow in business who made this country possible.

Long before we knew anything about giant monopolies, or listened to proposals for their regulation or dissolution, the small business man had been at work founding a great country. He did it with his little shop, his small plant, and his modest store. He operated on the principles of honesty, integrity, thrift and service. He became prosperous and he made the country prosperous.

There are hundreds of thousands of such business men in the United States and they are just as important to our welfare as they ever were. Unfortunately, however, with the spotlight thrown on the big corporations of the country we hear less about the little business fellow. He has become the real forgotten man. Yet he and his kind in the aggregate are the foundation of the nation.

A great many of the socialistic experimenters have traveled far beyond the little business man. They look upon him as a product of the now archaic horse and buggy age. They are used to gazing at the stars and other big things. In our country they see only the giant corporations. Their purpose apparently is not to dissolve these corporations but to seize them, to make them a part of the government. This is the next step toward socialism.

But those who have the real interests of the country at heart do not want this to happen. They know that it spells European totalitarianism rather than democratic America. They realize the peril of monopoly, whether it is private or federal. What they most desire is to give the small business man a chance to survive, to return to prosperity. If such a desirable state of economic bliss can be brought about then we need not worry about the future. When the small business man becomes prosperous the farmer and the worker will be prosperous. There will be money to buy our surplus crops, and jobs for all those who want to work.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CURING CHILD OF STUTTERING

PRACTICALLY all stuttering seems to be a matter of emotions. Usually the stuttering child appears to be a nervous child. Anything we can do to make this child feel more serene and more secure emotionally ought to help him recover. Once stuttering begins, the emotion attending it is primarily self-consciousness, personality fear.

"Dear Dr. Myers," a mother writes, "we are greatly concerned about our son's stuttering and would appreciate any help you can give us.

"He is three years and nine months old, and his first attack occurred when he was two and one-half years old. He began stuttering the day after he had been frightened at the sight of a mouse. He became nervous and would waken from sleep frightened. When put to bed, he seemed afraid when left alone. . . . This first period of nervousness and stuttering lasted about three or four weeks. When he returned to normal speech and behavior, we dismissed it from our minds, thinking it had all resulted from the fright.

Followed Illness

"However, 10 months later it recurred. This time he had not been frightened or unusually active. For a couple of weeks previous, however, he had been suffering from a slight throat infection and was not enjoying his usual good health. . . . After two or three weeks he again recovered from nervousness and stuttering.

"Now this present and third 'attack,' coming only about three and one-half months after the second one, has already lasted over three weeks. I cannot account for this one in any way."

My reply:

"In the first place, you need to work with your doctor to try to keep him well and build him up physically, since, in his case, stuttering often recurs — sometimes begins — after illness or some emotional upset.

"It seems that your child improves as he grows more calm. Here is your cue. The fact that his stuttering has disappeared for long periods makes his permanent recovery more hopeful.

Hold Him To Routine

"Hold this child strictly to routine. See that he does not grow over-weary or excited. It may be well to interrupt his long periods of play with short, quiet periods when you will read or sing to him. Encourage him, however, to play out-of-doors and with some other children of his age. Be liberal with affection.

"Keep your voices soft and low and the radio silent while he is awake, except for soft, unexciting music. Read aloud to him a great deal and sing lullabies to him.

"When he stutters, don't stop him or ask him to repeat. Don't look at his mouth then or indicate by your breathing or gestures that you are aware of his stuttering. Act as if all is going well."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE "E. O. M." CLUBS

Ever since John Lewis, head of the C. I. O., made his vitriolic attack upon "Texas Jack" Garner, calling him "a whiskey drinking, poker playing, evil old man," there has been suggested to many other "poker playing, whiskey drinking" men of the Nation, a name for the Card Club to which they belong. In every hamlet, town and city of the country, there are probably a few older men who meet once a week or twice a month somewhere, perhaps in the office of one of them; perhaps in the home of one of them or perhaps at the Social Club to which they belong, and there spend the evening at the card table, generally playing the great American game of Poker and while these men are not inebriates, they generally during the evening drink a few alcoholic stimulants.

This designation of our Vice President, suggested to a coterie of men in Davenport, Iowa, a name for their Club. They called it the E. O. M. Club ("Evil Old Men") and one of them was designated to write to Garner and to other well-known players of the great American game, one of which was Alfred Landon. They received replies to most of their letters. They hold the reply of Jack Garner in the strictest secrecy, but Alf Landon's reply was a whiz. He told them, in substance, that he thought the idea was a good one, but he did not subscribe to any poker organization which "played the deuces wild." — "Klondike," "low in the middle", "low in the hand" and all such irregular games of poker. He hoped they would stick strictly to a time honored game and not allow themselves to be lead into any innovations.

The Davenport idea has spread and if you happen to see anywhere that the "E. O. Ms" are meeting tonight, or met last night, you will know exactly what is meant.

Many of the underprivileged class justly blame their lack of education on the poverty of their parents. But if you were to take a census of the really well-educated people in our midst you would be amazed at the proportion who attained culture despite their youthful poverty, often of the direst sort. And today there are as many young Cordell Hulls and Abraham Lincolns overcoming youthful handicaps as there were a generation or two generations ago.

I know a couple who married young and now, at 38, have 8 children. When their children were small the parents, servantless, and needing all their resources to feed and clothe their offspring, were forced to stay at home nearly every night. Instead of worrying over their lot, they spent their evenings completing their educations. They bought text books, and studied together, mastering among other subjects, two foreign languages. Two of their children have musical talent. So with the money that other parents in the same plight might spend in ephemeral pleasures, this couple invests in violin lessons for one child and piano lessons for the other. Lack of wealth is no excuse for lack of culture or refinement, for this brood of eight is well behaved and with proper parental guidance is storing up mental wealth aplenty.

Welles To Undertake Ticklish Job Mission To Europe Only Guessed At Third Term Possibility Discussed

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Despite President Roosevelt's advice to newspaper correspondents not to draw any conclusions of their own in connection with Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles' trip to Europe to sound out neutral governments on the subject of post-war peace arrangements and to discuss present-war conditions at the belligerent countries' capitals, plenty of guessing is being done in Washing relative to Welles' mission.

Such guessing as IS being done, the president warned the scribes in advance, is bound to be all wrong. Nevertheless, the reporters are hard at it, and so are all the senators and representatives down on the "hill."

Most of the legislators say they think the expedition will do no harm even if it does no good. Still, there's an undercurrent of sentiment to the effect that the experiment is unpleasantly suggestive of "monkeying with a buzz-saw." Isolationists pessimistically recall that, in the early days of the last war, President Wilson had a "roving ambassador" in the Old World in the person of Colonel House, and their contention is that the colonel had a good bit to do with getting the United States into the conflict.

Third Term Possibilities

Another theory, suggested by anti-third termers, is that the White House wants to have a promising looking line of peace activities wagging along, as the pre-convention political campaign progresses, with Washington managing it, the idea being that plenty of people will oppose having it interfered with by a change in administrations; thus that the demand for F. D.'s renomination will become overwhelming.

These guessers' thesis is:

"Woodrow Wilson was re-elected largely on the slogan, 'He's kept us out of war.' Now President Roosevelt is trying to go Wilson 'one better' by making it appear that he's about to end today's war altogether."

Neutrals Versus Belligerents

It's quite widely surmised that Welles will have very good luck with the neutrals.

It also is conjectured that Fuehrer Hitler will grab at whatever proposal is contemplative of peace again—but substantially on his own terms. It's suspected that he begins to realize that he's "bitten off more than he can chew," and maybe will be disposed even to make small concessions, in order to escape from a dangerous German situation. But nobody believes that he'll consent to abdicate his own fuehrer-ship.

As to the British and French, however?—

London and Paris dispatches already show their reaction to the Welles visits. Their position is that they've told specifically what their only peace condition is—the extinction of Hitler and Nazi-dom.

Naturally that's Adolf's "non possums."

It looks, then, like a deadlock, as between Germany and Britain and France. It's hard to see how that scrap can go to anything but a knockout—no mere decision.

Italy's different. It's taken for granted that Benito Mussolini is as pacific in this particular instance as could be desired. Italy has everything to lose and nothing to gain in the pending muss. It's difficult to understand why it's included among the "belligerent countries" Sumner Welles is scheduled to visit. It isn't belligerent.

And there's Russia still to be reckoned with. Sumner isn't slated to call at Moscow. Apparently that outfit's deemed too "nutty" to negotiate with.

A Crafty Diplomat

Sumner Welles is a crafty diplomat. He's a career man—a professional.

American diplomacy usually, in the past, has been out-diplomatized in it's foreign dickerings, because the foreigners have been experts at the game, and our crowd have been amateurs. Colonel House, for instance, knew no more about world conditions than a rabbit. Welles is a shark at 'em. He not only is experienced, he's a genius.

House was "played for a sucker." Welles won't be. He takes a ticklish assignment, though.

WORD-MURDER

"You'll be thrilled!" we are told,
"By the hair-oil we make;
By this cure for a cold!
By the bread that we bake
This dessert, hot or chilled!"
But in truth I must say
I don't care to be thrilled
Every hour of the day.

"You'll be thrilled!" we're informed,
"By our shaving cream new!
By our soup when it's warmed!
By the beer which we brew!
By the flour which we've milled!"
But for respite I pray.
I can't stand to be thrilled
Every hour of the day.

"You'll be thrilled!" some one shrieks,
"By this polish for shoes!
This grease for all squeaks!
And this balm for a bruise.
By the dish-pan suds filled
In our time-saving way!"
But who wants to be thrilled
Every hour of the day.

"You'll be thrilled!" day and night
Comes the radio cry,
"By our soap's whiter white!
By our shortening for pie!"
But a word's being killed
By these fellows who bray,
"You'll be thrilled! You'll be thrilled!"
Every hour of the day.

Her Judgment Poor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.

BEFORE the meeting of the American Youth Congress in Washington last week wholly fades from the public mind it seems worthwhile, for the sake of the record, to sum up some of the undisputed facts. This is the organization practically mothered by Mrs. Roosevelt. She took it in her arms, constituted herself its chief defender, publicly proclaimed her fondness for its leaders, attended every session, talked to it at length.

NO one quarrels with Mrs. Roosevelt about that. She is a very good woman and deeply sympathetic with a great many causes and things. Once in response to some rather mild criticism she pleaded that she and her children be "allowed to lead our normal lives". No one has any objection to them doing that and ordinarily her taste in organizations, causes and people would be her own affair and nobody's business.

BUT when as wife of the President of the United States she puts the stamp of the White House upon an organization which has been criticized by a committee of Congress and is engaged in trying to get through legislation which will appropriate half a billion dollars of the public money, it would seem that at least the public had a right to concern itself and that observers of the American scene have a right to comment. While the President did not advocate this appropriation and very effectviely in his talk cleared his skirts of any Communistic toleration, declaring that the resolution denouncing the proposed aid to Finland was "twaddle", Mrs. Roosevelt, although not disagreeing with her husband, took no stand and said no word that could offend the Communistic affiliates of the organization—quite the contrary. This is not to intimate for a moment that Mrs. Roosevelt is in the least communistically inclined or even remotely sympathetic with the aims or ideas of the Communists. Nevertheless, this is what she did—

FIRST, in reply to a question she said "no", she did not think the Congress should pass a resolution denouncing the Russian invasion of Finland and going on record against Communism because the Congress did not believe in such resolutions. She expressed her own sympathy for Finland and she did not think the Congress understood the international situation. However, she could not be gotten to say that she approved the resolution. Second, she dissented from the recommendation of the Dies committee that the Congress divorce itself from its Communistic affiliates on what cer-

To give an added touch to your soup served for the first course at dinner, cut stale bread in one-eighth inch slices, spread thinly with softened butter and creamed cheese. Cut with round cutter and fry in deep vegetable or bacon fat until brown. Serve with soup.

Lincoln-Garfield Association Holds Annual Reunion And Elects Officers

Meeting for the 13th consecutive year the Lincoln-Garfield Association held its annual mid-winter reunion Thursday night in the Eagles Club. It may be that time has mellowed the memories of the old Slabtown lads, but the concensus of opinion was that this year's reunion topped anything the club has held in the past.

At eight thirty, President David T. Nelson called the meeting and a short business session was held. The election of officers resulted in Earl Dukes being elected president, Tom Frank, vice president, and Ed. J. Ryan, secretary and treasurer for the eleventh year.

Griff Thomas pronounced the invocation before the lunch and the crowd sang "America" with Dave Lewis directing and Cliff James at the piano.

Griff Lewis had charge of the entertainment and presented a glee club directed by his brother Dave. The club sang several glees to the delight of the Lincoln-Garfieldites. Jimmy White, trickster with the banjo gave a demonstration of his ability and Griff Thomas presented some readings. Paul Donnelly, the "Singing Fireman" from Sharon was heard twice. A number of letters from out of town members were read.

There was no formal address at this year's reunion. A number of the men present spoke ever so briefly. Among them were former mayor Charles E. McGrath, John F. Love, Ben Hartland, Josh Morgan, Ed. J. Ryan, Ed. Pritchard, John Moore, J. Garfield Davis, Al Keeling, Herb Samuels, Dr. Hyman Frank, Jess Kennedy, Dan Cunningham, Bart Richards, James Hinish, Al Ellis, Tom Cunningham, and James H. Elmore. The new president, Earl Dukes introduced the speakers.

Before adjournment President Dukes announced that Joseph Dukes would be the general chairman of the summer reunion which will be held in Cascade Park next July.

The Great Game Of Politics

tainly appears the unsound ground that you cannot purge the Congress of Communists any more than you can purge the country.

THIRD, she said that while she did not believe the bill to appropriate $500,000,000 would pass, still, she was in favor of it and she urged the members of the Congress to "work for it". Fourth, she sat serenely through the session while the Congress excoriated the Dies committee and passed with the greatest enthusiasm resolutions calling for its abolition. The net of all this is that despite the fatherly and motherly chiding of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the Congress overwhelmingly refused to go on record against Communism and actually threw out of the hall delegates who proposed that it do so. It likewise declined to rescind its resolution denouncing the proposed loan to Finland, which the President had properly called twaddle, and it refused to adopt a resolution denouncing the invasion of Finland, although the President had said that ninety-eight per cent of the country resented that invasion.

THUS, defying and denouncing the Dies committee and retaining intact its perfectly open and admitted Communist affiliations, the Congress left Washington with flags flying, greatly pleased with itself and with the wife of the President its protecting and sheltering friend. Giving Mrs. Roosevelt credit for only the noblest and best of motives the fact remains that however much one may admire her energy, courage and sympathetic soul, her judgment hardly kindles enthusiasm.

Would Abandon Eastern Prison

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16—Abandonment of Eastern penitentiary, scene of a thwarted wholesale escape plot, was recommended today by State Secretary of Welfare E. Arthur Sweeny as soon as Pennsylvania can finance a new institutional building program.

"There is no other prison in the state where the physical conditions or the overcrowding is as bad," asserted Sweeny after a tour of inspection. Nine convict ringleaders were in solitary confinement following revelation of two expertly-shored tunnels leading to the street from cell blocks containing 200 men.

"I think it would be a good idea to move the prison outside Philadelphia," Sweeny said in criticizing failure of the Earle administration to rebuild the institution with general state authority funds. He said he would recommend its abandonment while reporting "this tunnel plan" to Gov. Arthur H. James.

Meanwhile, Warden Herbert Smith revealed that he was aware of the prisoners' tunneling operations, and awaited the "psychological" moment to seize the ringleaders. News of the attempted break might not have leaked out had it not been for the suicide of Ringleader James Wilson, 26, of Williamsport, Smith said.

"We knew of the exisence of these tunnels for 17 days," asserted the warden. "We know there were 28 men involved and we have nine of them segregated." No further court action will be taken against the sequestered convicts, but maximum long-term sentences will be enforced, Smith indicated.

National Budget Can Be Balanced Declares Babson

(By ROGER W. BABSON)
(Copyright, 1940, Publishers Financial Bureau)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 16.—The "Economy Bloc" in Congress deserves real encouragement. They are attacking spending—America's public enemy number one. Therefore, I want to expand on what I said two weeks ago about the urgent necessity of curbing spending and purging taxes that are stifling jobs. Any time that we honestly make a start, we can balance our budget within two years. Furthermore, the very process of budget-balancing can bring prosperity. Only through good times can the budget be balanced—and only through good times can it be balanced painlessly.

Government expenditures are now about eight billion dollars per year. Of this, about one and a half billions go for relief. If the Administration were to unshackle business, this relief item would drop to one half billion as private payrolls mounted. Furthermore, the national income would rise from 70 billions to well over 80 billions. Then, with the present rate of corporation taxes, government receipts would increase another billion or more. By slashing a billion off expenditures and tacking a billion or more onto tax receipts through better business and rising profits, we could balance the budget in two years!

Put Money To Work

Statistics indicate that the national income would speedily top 80 billions as business confidence is restored. This figure can be attained if we will do what is needed to put private capital back to work. A national income of over 80 billions means jobs for all who are able and willing to work at fair market wages. Balancing the budget and putting capital back to work does not mean a sudden slashing of farm aid, public works, or national defense. It calls only for honest taxing and financing.

How can this "miracle" be performed? Read your history. In 1926, the government's policy was to encourage business initiative. In that year the surtax was only 20 per cent. It reached its maximum on net incomes of $100,000. Business men and investors, both big and small, had an incentive to invest capital and create jobs. Furthermore, in 1926, corporations were taxed at a flat rate of 13½ per cent. Ten years later business' earning power was laid low by undistributed profits taxes and excessive surtaxes. Business statistics show that such taxes dry up the sources of capital, depress industry and trade, cause unemployment, cut government receipts, and unbalance the budget.

Good Taxes Aid Jobs

On the other hand, a really efficient program of taxation encourages employers to enlarge their business and hire new workers. One recipe for prosperity is: Low surtax rates, flat rates on corporate net income. Furthermore, business men should be aided by specific legislation. Congress is unwisely entrusting tremendous powers of discretion to the whims of administrative agencies. Here then is a five-point program for prosperity and budget balancing:—

1. Keep corporate tax rates where they are, but change today's surtax rates. These surtax rates should be cut from a top figure of 75 per cent to 20 per cent and applied to incomes of $100,000 or more. The Federal Treasury should get more money from such rates.

2. Wipe out the so-called "tax deterrents" that destroy a business man's incentive to expand his activities and provide more jobs. I understand that the Treasury Department and the House Ways and Means Committee are fully aware that certain provisions in the present law are crippling business initiative. The law should be purged of these needless deterrents.

3. I have given hearty approval to the purposes of the Securities and Exchange Act. However, I favor amending this Act so that new issues under $750,000 will be given exemption from most of the red tape that is so costly. The S.E.C. should be retained as the safe-guardian of honest investment interests, but it should avoid killing the geese which lay the golden eggs.

4. The anti-trust laws should be amended so that business men will have specific standards whereby to judge what is deemed monopolistic and in restraint of trade. The Federal Trade Commission should be given the exclusive power to initiate the prosecution of dishonest competition.

5. The National Labor Relations Act calls for amendment. This Act should be made to furnish safeguards to both the individual worker and the employer against group tyranny; and to encourage cooperation of employers and workers who want to develop honest labor relations.

Halt Pyramiding Debt

The real cause for alarm is not alone the sheer size of our public debt, but rather the tendency of the debt to keep on mounting to the skies. I see no reason why we cannot cope with a 45-billion-dollar debt, provided we stop there and do not continue to pile fresh burdens on the camel's back. For seven years now, we have been pyramiding the debt at an average rate of three billion dollars a year. In recent years, (1936 and 1937 for instance) corporations had a net income of around eight billions, but four and a half billions of this were consumed by taxes. Under such circumstances, how can business men be encouraged to expand? What are their incentives to provide new jobs?

Ten years ago, business needed a spanking; but this is no longer true. Today we can risk unshackling business initiative. We have tried every experiment imaginable since 1929 except budget-balancing. I believe that our next President—regardless of who he is—will try this method of solving unemployment—and will succeed! With such a trial should come a period of great prosperity for the United States. Moreover, it will be a good prosperity period because it will, for awhile at least, be free of many of the evils that have ruined previous booms. Such a development would be the best way to celebrate the birthday of Washington, who always stood for honesty above everything else.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Lincoln laughed—and at such a moment, too.

He was in conference with his cabinet on grave state affairs.

Suddenly Lincoln took a joke book out of his pocket.

He read a passage, laughed loudly and looked about.

His cabinet members were dumbfounded, amazed at his levity.

Lincoln sighed and took up again official problems.

Fortunate for the nation that Lincoln could laugh.

He looked on laugher as good preventive medicine.

He found in laughter respite from gruelling aggravations.

He once said, "If I did not laugh, I should die!"

Laughter relieved Lincoln's mental anguish.

Laughter is a great tonic for both mind and heart.

Food Policies Are Denounced By Lloyd George

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 16.—David Lloyd George, British prime minister during the World War, went on record today with a scathing attack upon the food policies of the Chamberlain government.

Addressing the House of Commons in connection with the land reclamation bill, Lloyd George said: "Food is our weakest flank. Don't imagine that when you are eliminating troublesome amendments you can rule Hitler's submarines, mines and airplanes to our order.

"I do not like the war but I try to look ahead with a recollection of what happened 25 years ago when factors were more in our favor

British Learn Secrets Of Nazi Bombing Planes

Ingenious Fuel Feed—Self Sealing Gas Tanks Found On Captured Ship

HEINKEL BOMBER SECRETS BARED

By FREDERICK SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON.—Detailed examination of a German Heinkel bomber which was forced to land by British fighters at the beginning of the war has supplied Britain with valuable information in regard to this type of machine.

The forced landing only slightly damaged the bomber which was found to be fitted with two of the latest type Juno engines, each developing 1,200 h. p.

These were equipped with a secret method of fuel injection which avoided the use of carburetors.

Pumps Rebuilt

Although the pumps were badly damaged by bullets, British experts managed to reconstruct them and make this secret and ingenious system work.

Its method of delivering fuel to the engines and the rate of delivery were then revealed.

A closer examination of the German warplane proved that its workmanship was excellent and that there was nothing shoddy about its construction.

Best Long-Range Bomber

According to figures printed on the machine which is known to be Germany's best long range bomber, it was able to load to 27,400 pounds and that its empty weight was 14,100 pounds.

The difference between these two figures—13,300 pounds—represents the load of gasoline, crew and bombs which can be carried.

This German machine has a top speed of 274 m. p. h., which is believed to be slightly more than its British counter-part, the Vickers-Wellington long-range bomber.

But the British machine is alleged to have greater fighting power and is known to have given a good account of itself recently against opposing fighters.

The Heinkel which was forced down had fittings for two cannon-guns to fire through the hollow air-screw hubs but no cannons were on board.

Three Machine-Guns

It also had three machine-gun cockpits, one in the nose in front of the pilot, one for firing amidships above the bomber and another for firing below.

Each turrent had only one machine-gun, however, and there were no power operated turrets such as are fitted to British bombers.

An interesting feature of the German machine was the gasoline tank in which some fuel was found.

The machine did not catch fire when it was forced down because the rubber encased gas tanks were found to be self-sealing when hit by bullets.

The Golden Text

Tribute to Caesar

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."—Matt. 22:39.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic is Matt. 22: 15-23-39, the Golden Text being Matt. 22-39, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.")

One thing in particular must strike readers of today's lesson, and that is the cleverness of Jesus' replies to His enemies. These enemies, Pharisees or priests, Sadducees, the religious, political party, and the Herodians or followers of Herod, all refused to consider the idea of Jesus as the Messiah, and considered Him as a dangerous man and a heretic. They felt they must get rid of Him as quickly as possible. But they were afraid of the common people, whom they knew thought of Him as the Master and a prophet.

So these men tried to trap Him so that by His replies to their questions, the people should lose faith in Him. They doubtless reasoned that He was an ignorant countryman who could easily be made to say just what they wanted Him to, and so give them an excuse for making Him prisoner.

But no matter what questions these highly educated men put to Him, His answers always left them speechless and in the wrong. It was customary in those days for anyone who wished to question a rabbi to do so in public, no matter what he might be doing at the time. So the Pharisees and the Herodians banded together to decide on some question that He would not be able to answer satisfactorily, and which would offend the people. The Pharisees were a religious party, fanatical, and most of the rabbis and scribes came from that party. The Herodians were, as the name implies, followers of Herod.

Asks Concerning Tax

The question that they decided to ask Jesus concerned the tribute or poll tax which the Romans levied upon the Jews and which they hated. The Pharisees and Herodians addressed Jesus in most flattering terms, calling Him Teacher and saying they knew He was true and taught the way of God, etc.—a most hypocritical attitude for them to take who only wished Him ill. 'Is is lawful to give tribute unto Caesar or is it not?" Jesus called for a Roman coin, and when it was brought He said: "Whose is this image and superscription?" "Caesar's" they answered. Then Jesus said, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." His enemies had nothing to say tothat answer but slunk away.

Then the Sadducees came to Him. They, too, were an influential religious party, and they did not believe in the resurrection. The question they put was an absurd one, but they thought to trap Him, nevertheless. If the oldest of seven brothers married a woman and he died, leaving no children, it would be lawful for the brother next in age to marry the woman. If he did this, but he, too, died and she married each of the brothers in turn and all died and she herself finally passed away, in the resurrection, whose wife would she be? "Ye do err," said Jesus, "not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God. For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in Heaven." The Sadducees also went away marveling.

Lawyer Questions Him

Next, a lawyer, a Pharisee, went to Him and asked Him what is the great commandment? And Jesus answered the man:

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And a second like unto it is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

These men drew Christ's anger because He knew, oh so well, that they were not sincere in apparently seeking knowledge. He saw through them and that they were trying to trap and mock Him, and he denounced them, calling them hypocrites. Insincerity always aroused the Lord's contempt.

These questions were asked our Lord during the last week of His life on earth. He realized that the people as a whole would not take His message and His warning and He looked at the beautiful city of Jerusalem and mourned over it in the touching words:

"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets and stoneth them which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!

"Behold, your house is left unto you desolate.

"For I say unto you, Ye shall not see Me henceforth, till ye shall say Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Jesus never taught again. The scribes and Pharisees—hypocrites. He called them—had no more chance to receive Him and His message, and His Jerusalem was truly left desolate and the Jewish people were scattered.

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

DEDUCTIONS FOR PROFESSIONAL EXPENSES

A professional man may deduct all necessary expenses incurred in the pursuit of his profession. These include the cost of supplies used in his practice, office rent, cost of light, water, fuel, and telephone in his office, the hire of office assistants, and expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile based upon the proportion of time it is used for professional purposes.

Many physicians use their residences both as their offices and their homes. In such instance the physician may deduct as a business expense the rental value of the rooms occupied for office purposes if he actually pays rent and also the cost of light and heat furnished these rooms. Also, he may deduct a portion of the wages paid domestic servants whose time is partly occupied in caring for these rooms. Membership dues in professional socities are deductible. Physicians and dentists who keep in their waiting rooms current magazines and newspapers for the benefit of their patients may deduct this item as a business expense. The cost of professional journals for the taxpayer's own use is also a deductible item.

The cost of technical books is not a deductible item, being a capital expenditure, but a proportionate amount for each year's depreciation of the books may be deducted. Depreciation may also be taken on office furniture and equipment. Insurance premiums on office or other professional equipment and liability insurance may be deducted. A premium paid for automobile liability insurance should be apportioned and that part of the premium attributable to business may be deducted as a business expense.

New York Provides Plenty Of Laughs

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK.—This is a strange little city of strange little people who make strange little items for the newspapers. On one strange little day recently they made these strange little items.

Mr. Frank Maristany and Mr. Arnold Rosello were arrested for possessing burglar tools. The police said they opened an automobile window with a beer can opener.

Captain Ellef Tellefsn, master of a barge, fell overboard at night and was rescued only because his bald head took on a neon glow from the phosphorus in the harbor waters.

Mr. Cletus Moore, an actor, was arraigned in court wearing green pajamas. Mr. Moore refused to dress otherwise for his court appearance.

Miss Dorothy Lamour shoveled four hundred pounds of cracked corn into New York harbor for the benefit of starving ducks and trusting cameramen who just happened to be there.

Newark Pickets New York

Seven Newark, N. J., juniors paid 10 cents to get into New York airport and break out banners advertising Newark Airport. Net profit to New York airport: 70 cents. Net profit to Newark airport: 0.

Mr. John Daly was arraigned in magistrates' court for soliciting advertising for a non-existent program supposedly sponsored by—the Magistrates' Court Officers Association.

Mr. Jack McCoy who was supposed to be arraigned in Felony Court was not arraigned having amused himself by stuffing chewing gum into the lock on his cell door. It couldn't be opened right away.

Firemen called to a blaze in a stable in mid-town Manhattan found two goats in with the twelve horses. Nobody knew how the goats got there.

A man named Jones boarded a train at Grand Central Station and said: "It's all right for a visit but I wouldn't live here if you gave me the city."

But it's my New York.

Dan Cupid doesn't back up from many people or conditions but the snow storm this week was too much for him. For the 24 hours ending Thursday at noon there had been not one marriage license appdied for. Apparently the elements were one up on Dan.

Two naturalization examiners are in the court house this week and will probably not finish their work until about Tuesday. Carl Starliper and Edward Rudnick are holding preliminary examinations for citizenship and have about 200 applicants to examine.

In the preliminary examination the applicants must prove their legal entry into the country, answer a number of questions and put themselves in shape so that on the final examination little time is taken in getting them through.

In the office of the prothonotary and clerk of courts several actions were laid on Thursday.

M. Bothman files a suit against G. Edward Knobloch for $254 alleged to be due on merchandise purchased.

Herman C. Taylor of Ellwood City files for a divorce from his wife, Clara A. Taylor, on the grounds of desertion . They were married May 14, 1934.

Harry J. Colley of New Castle files for a divorce from his wife, Helen Colley, on the grounds of desertion. They were married February 13, 1935.

Harry J. Noss, Jr., by Harry J. Noss Sr., his guardian, and Harry J. Noss, Sr., and Leona G. Noss, his wife, all of Ellwood City, file a suit against Ernest Reinheimer of Ellwood City for $7000 damages. The suit arises out of an accident May 8, 1939, on Sims street when it is alleged Harry J. Noss, Jr., was knocked down by the automobile of the defendant and sustained serious injuries.

Hugh D. Graham, administrator in the estate of Justin Lavrenak, files a suit against Louis Serjak. The suit arises out of an accident in Bessemer December 23, 1939, on Poland avenue when it is alleged the automobile of the defendant struck Justin Lavrenak and killed him. The amount asked for represents the funeral cost.

The People's Mutual Building & Loan Association files a suit against Herman Talbitzer for $308.40 alleged to be due on a mortgage.

The following wills have been admitted to probate by Register and Recorder Orville Potter:

Helen Vanderbilt Will Seek Divorce

(International News Service)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 16.—Helen Vanderbilt, estranged wife of Cornelius Vanderbilt, will file suit for divorce within the next 10 days—providing her writer-husband remains in one state long enough, she confided today to relatives.

The former Clarksburg girl who slipped away in the middle of the night five years ago from her husband's estate at Lake Arrowhead, Calif., and never returned, will ask either for separate maintenance or a divorce it was learned.

Vanderbilt, whose local residence is in Nevada, lives mostly in a trailer and is on a lecture tour over the country. Neil S. McCarthy, horse breeder and Los Angeles attorney, is expected to represent Mrs. Vanderbilt in the court action. She is now on the west coast.

Astronomical Highlight Of 1940 Will Be Mercury's Crossing Of Face Of Sun

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 16.—The planet Mercury's passage across the face of the sun on November 11 will be the principal astronomical feature of 1940, from the astronomer's point of view, Dr. Oliver J. Lee said today.

Dr. Lee, chairman of the astronomical department at Northwestern University, explained that a "transit" of Mercury occurs only twelve times a century, when the planet passes exactly between the earth and the sun.

"Mercury will look like a tiny black spot moving very slowly across the face of the sun," Dr. Lee said. "It will appear as only 1-180 the size of the sun, so field glasses may be necessary to see it.

"It will be seen from most of North America on November 11, beginning at 2:50 p. m. in the midwest, and will be seen moving off the sun's disc on November 12 from northeastern Asia."

Orbit Has Peculiarities

Scientific observation will be important because Mercury's orbit has peculiarities not shared by other planets. (It's orbit is elongated like those of other planets, but the location of the "bulge" in its orbit tends to rotate with respect to the sun.)

Two solar eclipses and a number of meteor showers are also on schedule for 1940. An annular eclipse—one which occurs when the moon is so far from the earth that it does not cover the entire disc of the sun—is slated for April 7. Seen from the midwest, this eclipse will reach 65 per cent of totality.

It will be complete, however, as observed from Southern California and the northern edge of the Gulf of Mexico.

For South America and southern Africa, there will be a total eclipse of the sun October 1.

Dr. Lee said he is "comet hungry," as no good-sized comets have appeared for several years. There is always a chance that an uncharted comet will pay the earth a visit, he said.

Fewer Divorces Found Among Church People

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 16—While there is one divorce out of every six marriages contracted in this country, there is only one divorce out of every 100 marriages where the couple maintain church connections.

This fact was brought out by Dr. John W. Rustin, pastor of Mt. Vernon Place Methodist church here, who was one of the principal speakers at marriage and home round table sessions of the Second Annual Institute of Church Social Work, held under the auspices of the Washington Federation of Churches.

County Court House Property Improvements Now Near Completion

Standing up on court house hill like two white gardenias in a bed of white cotton, your court house properties attrack a lot of favorable attention just now. Strangers see the buildings and stop to inquire what they are. In the summer they will be even more attractive for setting the white of the buildings off will be a frame and a base of green.

In the past eighteen months the court house has undergone a general overhauling. To mix up a few metaphors the old property has had its face lifted, its cylinders rebored and had its shoes shined. In short it has undergone improvements that puts the main building in shape for many years to come and in addition has been added a wing to the main building and the old Boyles homestead has been made into a modern office building.

Combien Monsieur?

In the words of the French, combien, or how much did it cost... Approximately $100,000 divided over three years. In 1938 the county commissioners spent $6065.30 on repairs, in 1939, $60,157.97 was spent for the addition and other improvements and also $18,002.65 for the Boyle's building and grounds. Thus far this year the commissioners have spent $2876.80 and before the year is out they will probably spend enough to round out the $100,000.

This does not include the labor cost represented by the WPA forces that worked in the court house and the Boyle's building. This would probably approach $50,000.

Like your experience in fixing up a home the improvements followed one another. You know how it is, the wife starts on papering the kitchen and winds up by painting the woodwork, papering several other rooms and adding a sun parlor and a breakfast nook.

Back in 1938 the commissioners decided to do a spot of painting. First one office was done, then another, then the corridors and court room number two. Then the tinwork on the roof was done over, the court house, jail and sheriff's residence were pointed up and by this time the commissioner's had broken out in a fine rash of improvements.

First, the Boyles property was taken over. This gave the commissioners a large three story house, a small brick building in the rear and a large barn on the back of the property. In addition they got a lot of land around the buildings.

New Offices

Architect Harry Wirsing was engaged to remodel the building and today the county is saving $200 per month in rental formerly paid. The permanent registration office, the district attorney and county detective, the judges, the county superintendent of schools are all in the main Boyles building. The welfare department is in the little brick building in back of it. The barn is used as a storage room for cars and equipment.

The grounds around the building were landscaped, the terraces graded, trees trimmed and a lot of shrubbery planted. In addition there is a parking lot for some sixty or seventy cars provided.

In the main building the improvements started with the corner space in the front end of the building being converted into an office for the county commissioners.

Then Mr. Wirsing was commissioned to design a wing to the building which would fill in the bay on the west side of the building. This is done and gives the prothonotary a new room on the first floor and a large basement room for storage. New file cases are in and will be installed and when the new room is fitted up the present front office will be remodelled part of a partition taken out and a new floor laid.

New Law Library

The second floor of the new wing goes for the law library and gives the library some much needed space. The room of the present library over the sheriff's office will be closed off for a jury room and a balcony installed which will contain cots for jurors.

The room known as the large jury room on the second floor was remodelled, new furniture put in and the space above is transformed into a rest and sleeping room for jurors. As a safety measure a fire screen was placed at the top of the back stairs composed of steel sash and glass.

In the basement of the main building extensive repairs have been made. A cement walkway has been laid down the narrow corridor, two old unused rooms have been improved and made into storage rooms and a third room which was used for storage has been improved and will be used for old files. The plumbing has been replaced and the wiring system replaced. The basement is now an orderly place and not the rat's nest it used to be.

The amount of money represented sounds like a lot, $100,000 but the commissioners have gotten more than full value for their money. When the improvements are finally completed and that will be sometime this spring, your court house will be a sound building, fit for many years of use and with plenty of space to care for all needs for that time.

Knights Of Pythias Will Gather Monday

When Robert Blum Lodge No. 466, Knights of Pythias, meets Monday night, February 19, in the Knights of Malta hall, the rank of Knight will be conferred on a class of candidates by the degree team of Custer Lodge No. 469 of Greenville.

The date of the meeting marks the 76th anniversary of the Knights of Pythias in the United States, the order having been chartered on February 19, 1864, in Washington, D. C.

Grand Chancellor John W. Rawson, of New Kensington, will be the guest of honor Monday night. Visitors will be present from Mercer, Butler, Armstrong, Allegheny and Beaver counties. Other grand lodge officers are expected also.

The Pythian Sisters will serve an oyster supper.

Famous Flyer Doubts Cities Will Be Bombed

Merrill Says Results Would Not Compensate For Heavy Loss Of Planes

FRENCH PILOT GIVES OPINION

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Dick Merrill, world famous flyer, doubts that the bombing of London, Paris and Berlin ever will be attempted because the results obtained would not compensate for the heavy loss of planes. He bases this opinion on what his friends, the foreign pilots, tell him.

In the peacful setting of a Miami Beach cabana, Merrill, who flew the Atlantic with Harry Richman in 1936, and again with coronation pictures in 1937, talked war—and what the international fraternity of birdmen are saying about it.

"It would be just as easy for the English to bomb Berlin as for the Germans to bomb London," said Merrill. "I'm told this is one of the things holding the Germans back.

"Both sides are now too evenly matched in the air, for another reason. And those directing the war know that the bombing of London, Paris or Berlin would set off the fuse that would put a great part of Europe in shambles."

French Pilot Studies Planes

Merrill disclosed that he had flown Jean Zeiger, French test pilot, to Miami. It is understood Zeiger is in this country to test the fastest purchaseable planes for the French government. Only a month ago Zeiger accompanied a squadron of twenty-seven pursuit ships which went over the enemy lines to convoy a French photographic ship.

"The first ship shot down was the photographic ship," sair Merrill. "That shows that the present type bomber hasn't a chance with the fast pursuit ship in day-time activities when visibility is good. It is almost impossible to convoy the comparatively slow bombers."

Merrill declared that as long as the Allies and the Germans are as evenly watched in the air as they are today, he doesn't look for the war to be won in the air.

"I can't understand why the Germans haven't tried to bomb England's shipyards and aircraft factories," he said. "They have the airplanes. They must be short of gasoline."

Telling how advantages are shifting back and forth between the Allied and the German air forces, Merrill said that the Curtiss P-36 an American made ship, did fine work for the French against the German Messerschmidts early in the war.

New Nazi Plane

"But the Germans now have a new Messerschmidt againt which the P-36 is lost," Merrill continued. "So now it is up to the French to get a type plane that is about 50 miles an hour faster than the P-36. That's one reason Zeigler is in the United States."

Merrill said the top speed of the P-36 was about 135 miles per hour but the new German Messerschmidts can travel about 375 miles an hour. The United States, according to Merrill, has a new Curtiss, powered by an Allison motor, which does about 400 miles an hour. However, it has not yet been released.

"We have better ships in America than they have abroad," said Merrill. "We have better materials. The life of our motors is about twice as long as the European-type plane. On our commercial lines we run 600 hours between overhauls whereas the German planes cannot get more than 100 hours.

"Fire power, I am told by Zeigler, is the greatest thing now. That means armament. The French claim their cannon is superior to the Germans but that the German machine guns are better. The fastest British ships have comparatively little fire power. The new German Messerschmidts, which are powered by a Diamler Benz 1,350 horse power motor, carry two .50 caliber cannons, which is heavy armament."

Explains Victory In Plane

Merrill said the reason bombing was such a success in Poland was because the Germans struck quickly and destroyed all airports without giving the Poles a chance to "punch back." An attack on London, Paris or Berlin, he thought would be a blow at the city itself without military advantage and would so arouse public sentiment that the results gained would not justify the means.

What the Allies need, in Merrill's opinion, is a lot of good, experienced "bad weather" pilots who could go up into the clouds and at a given moment, suddenly drop and bomb military objectives. Against such proceedure the anti-aircraft guns would be "very ineffective." He said that sometimes commercial planes fly all the way from Miami to New York in the clouds.

Merrill said it was hard to say which of the warring nations have the best pilots. England, he asserted, is keeping her best planes at home and sending the second-rate type to France which explains why British air losses have been heavy on the continent in spite of the courage and skill of the British flyers.

The United States, having a considerable number of experienced flyers, could soon become "equal or better than any nation" in the air, in Merrill's judgment.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SCARLET FEVER

I saved this one of the common eruptive contagious diseases of children which we have been discussing here this week until the last, because it is the one to be feared most, particularly at this time of the year when children's constitutions are likely to be weakened by winter conditions and probably by colds.

"It's better to be safe than sorry," is an old saying that I particularly commend to parents in regard to colds and digestive disturbances which, because they are so common in childhood, may be regarded too lightly. Measles starts as a bad cold, whooping cough begins like an ordinary cold in the head, and scarlet fever starts with a sore throat on tonsilitis. Fever is a warning of all. For this reason it is always wise to isolate promptly any child developing a fever and to have a doctor examine him.

For most of the diseases mentioned in this series this week, serums and vaccines have been developed that immunize the child or minimize the sickness, and the diseases are becoming rarer. But scarlet fever remains as a big menace to childhood.

This disease affects the same regions of the body as diphtheria but in no other respect do the diseases resemble each other. The onset of scarlet fever is much more dramatic than in diphtheria which a child may have in advanced stages before it is noticed by the parents. The high fever, sore throat and perhaps chills accompanying the first stage of scarlet fever leave no doubt that the child is very sick.

An examination of the throat at this stage will show that it is very red and swollen, but there are no patches of the thick, dirty membrane that always identifies diphtheria.

Early in the onset of scarlet fever a characteristic rash should make its appearance. It should pretty well cover the body, making its appearance first on the trunk. The rash is very fine and red and when you run your hand over it, it has a raised, velvety feel. Apart from this rash, there is often little in the symptoms to distinguish scarlet fever from any other sore throat.

However, sometimes scarlet fever comes without a rash or with a rash so fine as to be hardly perceptible and it may not be seen by the parent. Here an experienced sense of smell helps the doctor in his diagnosis for while scarlet fever without the rash might resemble diphtheria in some ways, the odors of the two diseases are entirely different. Diphtheria has a very characteristic odor that I can detect the minute I walk into a sick room. Scarlet fever has only a fever smell.

Scarlet fever is extremely infectious and a child who comes in contact with it will develop the symptoms within four or five days if he is susceptible to it. The infectious character of the disease continues for long periods, so quarantine is always for fours weeks or longer.

The rash itself may disappear after a couple of days and it leaves the skin with a peculiar lacey pattern. This is due to the peeling of the outer layers of the skin. In areas where the skin is hard and calloused, such as on the soles of the feet and the palms of the hand, the skin peels off in large chunks.

In my practise here in this part of Ontario, I have seen many deaths from scarlet fever. In almost every case the disease was fatal only because it struck at a time when the child's vitality was low. To repeat, this is a time of the year to devote extra attention to building up a child's system to withstand colds and diseases."

Women Jurors Cause Changes

Illinois Women Have Uplifting Influence On Tactics Of Attorneys

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Down-at-the heel lawyers are disappearing from Illinois courtrooms, for psychological reasons, since women began serving on the state's juries, according to the Chicago Bar Record.

Several months ago, the Illinois Supreme Court re-interpreted the state constitution to permit women jurors, and now most important juries include some women, frequently a majority of ladies. The official publication of the lawyers' association stated:

"Smart lawyers are changing their tactics to suit the new (lady) jurors. Corporation attorneys and insurance company lawyers long have wooed juries by appearing in court in humble mein, frayed collars, worn-out shirts and worn-down shoes. But no more!"

Emmet Byrne, a veteran criminal lawyer, agreed:

"That's true. The od-school lawyer with baggy trousers, decrepit clothes and egg on his vest is a thing of the past. Slovenliness offends women."

William Scott Stewart, another criminal lawyer, declared that women make good, dispassionate jurors, and added:

"Women detect sham and fraud quickly. Dressing up just especially for them might arouse suspicion."

Spanish Vets Have Banquet

Anniversary Of Sinking Of Battleship Maine Is Observed Last Night

AFFAIR IS HELD AT LEGION HOME

Eighty members and friends of New Castle's Spanish-American War Veterans' organization and their wives once again "remembered The Maine" last night at a "Maine Day" banquet celebration in the American Legion home.

Yesterday brought the 42nd anniversary of the sinking of the United States Battleship, The Maine, in the harbor at Havana, Cuba, the incident which precipitated the Spanish-American war.

Replicas of The Maine formed the centerpieces along the banquet table. Each guest's place was marked by novel miniature boats.

Attorney Alvin Fischer, the principal speaker, discussed the life of Abraham Lincoln. Rev. Charles H. Moore spoke on the life of George Washington. Mrs. Francis Cope spoke on "Remember The Maine."

C. Ed. Brown was toastmaster for the affair, while the address of welcome was given by Milton Woods. Rev. Moore pronounced the invocation.

A string trio composed of the Misses Koss, Leasure and Montobon favored the group with several selections.

Independent Union For Westinghouse Salaried Workers

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 16.—By an overwhelming majority, salaried employes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company endorsed an independent union as their collective bargaining agent, the Pittsburgh office of the National Labor Relations board disclosed today.

The election, held yesterday, was the largest white-collar election ever conducted by the Pittsburgh office and was believed to be one of the largest in the country. It affected 2,300 employes in the East Pittsburgh, Trafford and Homewood plants.

On a straight yes-or-no ballot, the employes voted 2,136 for and 81 against. One ballot was voided and another was blank, the N.L.R.B. office said.

MOTHER TAKES UP ART OF SKIING AT THE AGE OF 72

(International News Service)

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vet., Jan. 25.—Age is no barrier to skiing as can be shown by Mrs. Maybelle Miles, 72-year-old mother of ten children, who is just beginning to learn how to manipulate the slippery slabs.

With the first real snowfall of the season, the pink-cheeked little lady, still hale and cheerful, packed her shiny new skiis and boots—a Christmas present from her son—and headed for Cannon Mountain in Franconia, N. H.

Her son is a skiier, she explained. Besides, she loved to ride on the aerial tramway and watch the quizzing figures gliding below. Last fall she decided to take an active part.

Will Need Physician's Certificate For Marriage License After May 17

When your grandfather got married all he needed was a bride and a preacher, plus a ring if he had some extra cash.

By the time your father was ready to get married he needed a bride, a couple of rings, a preacher and a marriage license. Also a honeymoon.

Now that its your turn you will need all those things plus a physician's certificate for both you and the bride showing your physical fitness. The authority for the physical examination comes from an act of the session of 1939 of the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

The law is a health measure and is expected to reduce the number of children born blind as the result of syphilis in either of the parents. The law had the approval of the medical fraternity and goes into effect May 17.

No Exemptions

Unlike the three-day clause in the law which requires applicants to wait three days before getting their license, there will be no exemptions in the new law. Occasionally the court will waive the three-day period of waiting where urgency is proven. There are no exemptions in the physical examination law. Every man and woman regardless of race, creed or social status, must present a certificate of examination as a pre-requisite for a marriage license.

Where applicants are unable to pay for the examination the law says they shall be given the service free but does not say just how this section will operate. Reputable physicians are required to have signed any application and the test, commonly known as the Wasserman test must be conducted in a laboratory approved by the department of health. Results of the tests are to be kept confidential but it is assumed that if a marriage is granted the applicants must have shown themselves free of syphilis or at least in a non-infectious stage.

The examination must be made with 30 days of the application for license. One things the new law will probably do will be to stop the influx of Ohio couples for marriage licenses.

When Pennsylvania put in the three-day waiting clause there was a recession of Ohio licenses. With the physical examination clause, Ohio couples will likely stay in their own state or slip over into West Virginia.

Report Thousands Of Russians Fall

Terrific Machine Gun Fire Of Finns Exacts Heavy Toll In Red Army

(International News Service)

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 16—How the Soviet forces are battling on the Carelian Isthmus despite terrific Finnish machine gun fire that is exacting a heavy toll of men was graphically described today in a Helsinki dispatch to the newspaper Dagens Nyheter.

"Thousands of dead bodies lie on the ice of Lake Nuola following the failure of a reckless Russian attack," this account said.

"The Russians advanced in a solid block in the face of a blaze of machine gun fire that simply mowed them down. Russian cavalry participated in the assault, which proved a reckless enterprise.

"The Russians are using observation balloons to direct their artillery fire."

The dispatch added that the Finnish military authorities called up 44-year-old reservists to the colors.

Michigan Newspaper Merger Announced

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Feb. 16—The Battle Creek Moon-Journal announced Thursday that with the current issue it is suspending publication and consolidating with The Enquirer-News.

George E. Doliver, president of The Moon-Journal Publishing Co., who will assume editorship of The Enquirer-News, said the publishers had reached the conclusion that the local field is not capable of supporting two newspapers on an adequate basis.

"In common with newspapers from one end of the country to the other, The Moon-Journal has been handicapped by excessive Federal and state taxes, by increased cost of print paper and other supplies essential to publication, and by continually increasing labor costs," Mr. Doliver's statement said.

GROVE CITY, Feb. 16.—Clearing the land for the proposed new men's dormitory on the upper campus at Grove City college was started this week, with 25 men students assigned to the task under the N. Y. A. program. It is expected that specifications will be ready for bidders late in March.

Report Discontent Grows In Russia

Huge Soviet Losses In Finland Cause Repercussions In Homeland

(International News Service)

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 16.—Discontent is growing in Russia over the huge Soviet losses in Finland and the Red Army's failure to batter down the Finnish resistance, according to reports filtering through to Sweden, the newspaper Aftonbladet reported today.

The paper said it was believed that unless the Soviets produce some striking success quickly, dictator Josef Stalin may "sacrifice" premier foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov and war commissar Klementi Voroshilov.

"Molotov and Voroshilov" said Aftonbladet, "are believed to be approaching the danger zone of purges."

The same newspaper published a report from Tallinn Estonia, stating that the Soviet commanders are striving at all costs to achieve a victory over Finland before Feb. 23, the 22nd anniversary of the founding of the Red Army.

Pope Renewing Peace Efforts

(International News Service)

ROME, Feb. 16.—Pope Pius XII has renewed his intensive personal efforts for peace in Europe and his nuncios in London, Paris and Berlin are sounding out the warring governments regarding their attitude for cessation of hostilities, it was learned today.

Authoritative quarters disclosed the Pope's efforts are synchronizing with but are not directly connected with the forthcoming exploratory tour of Europe by American Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles.

If favorable replies to the Papal soundings are received prior to Welles arrival, the Pontiff may "invite" belligerent and neutral nations to consider the existing possibilities for peace.

Vatican circles are cordial toward Welles' mission and insist that the initiatives taken by the United States and the Holy See, although "parallel," are distinctly separate.

The model illustrated is the BUICK SPECIAL *model 41 four-door touring sedan $996 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.

AUTOMOBILE engineers talk a lot about car weight — and with good reason.

They know that riding qualities begin with enough road weight to hold you steady on your course—they know that weight is often another measure of size—above all, they know that weight means substance, strength, durability.

So it's interesting to note that this trim Buick SPECIAL gives you more weight per dollar than almost any other car you can buy.

With all its husky straight-eight power—power that's like velvet because engines are balanced after assembly — with all its room, and style, and comfort—this Buick still has one of the lowest costs-per-pound of any car on the market.

And nowhere else will you find valve-in-head power, all-coil springing, torque-tube steadiness and Buick's plussage in accessories at the figures that apply to the SPECIAL.

So if a little extra money is keeping you out of a Buick, take another look at those dollars.

They buy more car to begin with. More size and more substance.

They buy some six dozen new 1940 features, including many an "extra."

And you'll get most of them back in longer life and higher trade-in value—not to mention your fun and solid satisfaction!

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich.*

*Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

War Will Break In All Is Fury Early In Spring

Such Is Belief Of Ambassador Kennedy—Sees Gold As Economic Problem

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—Warning that the European war will burst into fury in early spring and that a prolonged struggle will raise serious economic problems for the gold burdened United States has been given administration leaders by Joseph P. Kennedy, U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain, it was learned today.

Kennedy's warning, high officials disclosed, was partly instrumental in prompting the administration's present efforts to lay plans for post-war trade and currency stabilization. It is also linked up with Washington's desire for a prompt European peace.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull a few days ago revealed that he has been carrying on conversations with a number of unnamed governments looking toward the solution of post-war economic problems.

Kennedy is represented as convinced that a major campaign—the deadliest in world history—will open up between the steel-studded Maginot and Siegfried lines with the coming of spring. When this occurs, the allied demand for American war materials naturally will be vastly increased.

C. D. Of A. Discuss Plans At Assembly

Reports Heard From Grand Regent And Committee Chairman; New Activities Outlined

At a recent meeting of Court Teresa Irene No. 231 of the C. D. of A., and at the trustees meeting held Thursday evening in the K. of C. home, important plans were discussed.

The report of the C. D. of A. meeting held in Pittsburgh was given by the Grand Regent, Mrs. Marie J. Metz. Court Teresa Irene has been issued an invitation to attend the initiation of the Juniors of Court Consuelo on February 25, at 2 o'clock in St. Mary's of Mercy, at the Point, in Pittsburgh, and also from Court Ellwood on March 3, their meeting to be held in the Elk's club house.

Reports of committees were received and Miss Rose Green announced that the third in a series of dances will be held at The Castleton, on March 29. Initiation of new members into Court Teresa Irene will take place on April 14, in the K. of C. home with a dinner to follow later, the dining place yet to be announced.

Miss Clare Duff, chairman of the Study club, gave a report on the illustrated lecture held on January 24, and which was very successful.

The next month's meeting will be in the form of a social, preceded by a short business session. A "Washington Tea" party will be featured, with a short skit by members of the Dramatic club, followed by a period of cards and games.

A. & P. Stores Here Hail Their Founder

First Red-Fronted Unit Opened In Lower New York Back In 1859

George Huntington Hartford, founder of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., and the man who created the modern retailing method of direct buying and straightline mass distribution, is being honored by all A. & P. stores during Founder's Week, all this week.

Retailing principles established by Hartford when he opened his first red-fronted store in 1859—on Vesey street in lower New York—are used today by countless chain and independent merchants as the means of providing greater savings to consumers.

During Founder's Week, all A. & P. stores will lay special emphasis on tea, as their original stock in trade, and coffee, another early item of which the company is now the world's largest retailer.

No Air Races At Cleveland In Year 1940

Neither Army, Navy Nor Marine Corps Could Take Part This Year

FLIERS NEEDED FOR DEFENSE MANEUVERS

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Feb. 16.—The National Air Races, premier American air competition and show, will not be held at Cleveland airport this year, it was announced Thursday.

Announcement of cancellation of the races was made by L. W. Greve, president of the National Air Races of Cleveland, Inc., which is authorized by the National Aeronautic Association to stage the races. He had conferred in Washington with Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Corps.

General Arnold told Greve that due to the expansion of the air corps and the subsequent need of personnel and ships for training, the army would not be able to participate. Although there was no official announcement, it also was believed that neither the navy nor the marine corps would have been able to spare ships or men to participate.

Newark Seeks Races

Service flying has always been a large part of the air race show, and one of the attractions that drew several hundred thousand spectators to Cleveland airport every year. The races normally are held over the Labor Day week end.

Whether cancellation of the Cleveland show would result in complete abandonment of the races for 1940, was not known. It has been reported that Newark was anxious to stage the races this year.

Greve said, however, that the races would be held in Cleveland in 1941.

Long Island U. Defeats Titans

Score Is 47-42 In Fast Game At Brooklyn Floor, Bill King Is Star

TITANS AHEAD IN FIRST-HALF

(Special To The News)

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Westminster college basketball team hailing from New Wilmington, Pa., back in Western Pennsylvania, came near doing something here last night that has not been done since 1937, that of defeating the famous Long Island U. basketball team on their home floor. Long Island just managed to eke out a 47-42 win over the Pennsylvanians.

The Westminster Titans had a 24-22 ead at the end of the first half, but the Coach Clair Bee artists began to find the range soon after the third period began and took the lead, never to be headed, but the visitors came dangerously close several times.

At will seemingly in the first half the tall Titans of Westminster filtered through the Long Island defense in the first half, and appeared to be the team that was going to snap the long winning streak at home.

Too Much King

But, in the second half Bill King, the L. I. U. tall rangy center, who had been held to six points by Westminster's Stan Wasik, the first half, finally got his famous pivot shots functioning and Wasik could not stop him. He flipped in 11 points the second half, to make a total of 16 for the night. He was easily the outstanding player on the floor. Captain Osie Schechtman of L. I. U. had 10 points.

Leading the Westminster scoring attack as Charley Ridl, Stan Wasik and Joe Hetra, all with nine points apiece. The defeat was the second that the Westminster team suffered on their eastern tour that ended last night, West Chester being the other team to beat them.

Ellwood card star studded—Adhering to the rule of nothing but the best, Joe Latiano has corralled a cluster of amateur champs for the coming Ellwood City Elk's charity show, February 24. The affair will be presented in wholesale fashion, 10 scraps in all. The coming panorama pits the most precious simon pures in the locality. Pete Spotti, Cecil, the Western Pennsylvania belt czar, and Ted Delarito, the West Virginia kingpin, have drawn the feature post....

Ben Bartle, Ellwood City's pride who also boasts of a membership in the American Federated Order of Moustachios, matches punches with Nick LaVolpe, Youngstown's crown wearer. Since both lads own a victory, this, of course, is the rubber match....Al Sayers, the West Virginia honey, should have a busy evening in his scrap with Sammy Secreet, another Cecil son, who also owns a couple of diamond belts....

"Baby" Ritorto, who should have been nicknamed wildcat instead of "Baby" takes on Al Dundee, Cecil. This will be a test bout for the Ellwoodian.... "Buck' ' Chambers, West Pittsburg's improving gladiator, and Steve Morgen, East Liverpool, will swing it out in another match....Nick Ritorto, the stringbean like Ellwoodian, crawls into the ring against Bud Watson, East Liverpool. Ritorto's continuous punch throwing act should please the gallery no end.

Billy Reale, the farmer boy, from Princeton, has been paired with Norman Fitch, East Liverpool's cave man....Ray Loccisano, acclaimed as one of the most promising Lawrence Co. amateur, is billed to meet Al Vancovich, Monaca ace....Roy Crews, Ellwood welterweight, combats Sammy Portland, of Ambridge. ....Considering the calibre of the fighters, the show should be of the sizzling type.....

Baseball Cocktail: Once again, the sacrifice fly rule has been tossed out of baseball's rule books. Seems like the moguls are playing catch with the rule. Several of the more erudite men of the game firmly believe that the change will cost some of the better known hitters a few points....Fellows like Joe DiMaggio, Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg and Hal Trosky will drop 10 to 15 points, several moguls believe. This doesn't seem possible since the sacrifice was only credited when a run was scored from third on a fly.....

Max West, of the Bees, and Hank Lieber of the Cubs, were the only National Leaguers to club homers in every club in their loop. Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati, missed out only in Philly....The opening of the major league season is but 60 days away....American Association yogis claim Kansas City will not be so strong this season. The loss of Vince DiMaggio will be greatly felt, so will the departure of Breuer and Reis, pitchers.....

DIAMOND BELT 'CHAMPS' TO BOX

Indications point to a "S. R. O." crowd when a Parade of Champs and near-champs occurs Monday night in The Arena. Featured on the Jefferson A. C. fistic calendar are two Diamond Belt champions, a former champion, some rugged punchers and other boys who dote on science.

Here are the champions:

Jack Grimes, 160, Aliquippa and Pete Spotti, 147, Cecil. Grimes will fight Sully Tonti, rugged puncher from Midland and Spotti will take on Chuck Arkett, West Pittsburg's welterweight ace.

The ex-champion is Sammy Secrete of Cecil who will oppose the fast-stepping, ducking Mike Wukas of Aliquippa who hopes to hand the ex-champion a set back.

Billy Murray, classy Cecil featherweight, will oppose Nick Retardo, a hard-plugger from Ellwood City. Murray scored a sensational win over Frankie Moran here recently.

The Yarosz boys, Tom and Joey, will box Sonny Horne and Jimmie Tabor, both of Niles. Tom won't have any easy going with Horne. Teddy, 160-pound champion will attend the fight.

Benny Malone of Pittsburgh will go against the local favorite featherweight, Frankie Moran. While it is true Moran has been defeated he has won more than he has lost and can be depended upon for a fight.

Ellwood City will present a new face in a local ring when Ray Lacasano meets Milio Donnelli of Niles.

Ask Commission To Feed Game In Woods Of State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—Sportsmen throughout the state were appealed to today by the state game commission to feed game during the present emergency caused by the unusually heavy snowfall which has blanketed most of the state.

"If immediate aid is not furnished," said the game commission, "most species, particularly bobwhite quail, will suffer tremendous losses." Plenty of grit was needed, it was said.

Game officials urged that snow be cleared away from shelters to permit game birds to reach them with ease. They expressed the hope that organizations and individuals who have been contributing food in the past would continue their efforts now.

Present conditions were more alarming than at any time since the winter of 1935-36, the game commission stated ,emphasizing the need for "immediate aid".

Forum Community House Discussion To Be Held Sunday

Problem Of Financing Much Needed Project To Be Considered By Civic Leaders

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 16.—To discuss the need and methods of obtaining a community house, members of the Forum society of the First U. P. church have called a meeting of council and community representatives of civic, patriotic and fraternal clubs as well as interested individuals to be held on Sunday afternoon, February 18, at 2:30 o'clock at the church.

The Forum society is composed of members who have outgrown the young people's organizations. They meet each Sunday evening for an hour during which they hear a lecture and then in forum discussion try to find the answer to various problems. The idea of a community house was brought to them by Miss Bessie Runyan sometime ago and so the meeting was arranged.

Frank Gross, president, will handle the opening of the discussion with a chairman to be elected. The society points out that the community house could be built by W. P. A. labor or private contract or could be one of the large houses or buildings already in the city. According to their plan, it could be under paid supervision of one trained person such as a Y. M. C. A. director with a corps of volunteer assistants and a board of directors, or it could be maintained in a manner similar to the public library with equal treatment to all, regardless of class, race or creed.

Financing the cost of such a project, which has been perennially discussed by various organizations and forums for years, will be the problem to be considered on Sunday.

Ellwood Goes To Ambridge Tonight

Blue And White To End Season By Facing Section Three Champions

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 16.—Ellwood City high school's basketball team will complete their season tonight when they go to Ambridge to face the Section Three title winner.

Evans Mattocks, reserve player, has been out of school for two days with grippe, leaving one reserve player available on the main squad. For the final game, Coach Jerry Newton had decided upon a change in the lineup with Cartwright to begin at guard in place of Matrangol. It marks the final game for two of the first five players, Joe Lanzi, forward, and Captain Tommy Murphy, center.

Realizing that it is their final chance to end a most disappointing season in a blaze of glory, the Blue and White are "set" to give the Rubenstein charges a battle and while the most ardent fan doesn't expect a victory, the game will not be an easy one for the Bridgers.

Coach Jerry Newton is opposed to a current rumor that has a new Section being formed which would be comprised of Midland, Monaca, Rochester, Ellwood and New Brighton. He is primarily opposed to the movement because of the inadequate gymns of the above mentioned schools and further believes that the local team is usually on a par with the other strong teams of Section Three, including New Castle, Butler, Beaver Falls, Ambridge and Aliquippa.

The Reserves will play in a preliminary game to begin at 7 o'clock. Tammaro, of the Reserve lineup, is ill and will be replaced by Nido. The Junior high team ends their season this afternoon at Aliquippa and will stay over for the game tonight.

The squad will leave Lincoln gym at 5:30 p. m.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Since the last call we put forth calling for more dogs . . . this desk has been overrun with names of folks who want to find good homes for their pet. We now have on hand quite a few canines and to let everyone have a chance at them, in the very near future we are going to publish a list of these dogs and maybe some of you who want dogs and haven't the time to write can get a line on the type you want . . . so until then the dog exchange will be busy making up the list.

Schools in some parts of the county have been closed for the past three days on account of the snow . . . which happens to be the heaviest snow we have had in this section for many a moon. If it just melts slowly all will be well . . . And did you ever see anything more beautiful than the countryside this morning. Although we are a little chilly we still say . . . Give us good old Pennsylvania the year 'round.

* * *

Next Thursday is George Washington's birthday . . . you have a few days and we do wish that all of you could read his farewell address . . . in that address you will find some very good thoughts that apply to this world which we live in today. George Washington had the right ideas and we Americans of today could well afford to live up to his ideals.

* * *

May we repeat the following poem . . . "ANOTHER IF"

If those who whine would whistle,
And those who languish, laugh;
The rose would rout the thistle,
The grain outrun the chaff.
If hearts were only jolly,
If grieving were forgot;
If tears and melancholy,
Were things that now are not,
Then Love would kneel to Duty,
And all the world would seem
A bridal bower of beauty,
A dream within a dream.

Stock Market Undertone Soft

Changes In Most Leaders Fractional, List Mixed At Opening Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The stock market resumed its decline today, but independent strength developed in traction shares. Changes in most leaders were limited to fractional proportions. The list was mixed at the opening but soon ran into light selling. Support was met later but the general undertone continued soft.

Traction shares featured a jump of better than 7 points in B.-M. T. Undeposited preferred to a new high of 72. The common, also at a new top above 19, gained almost a point. Manhattan Railway and I. R. T. issues also were actively higher.

Steels turned downward for fractional losses after chalking up modest gains at the start. U. S. Steel dropped almost a point at one time.

Chrysler, ex-dividend 1¼ displayed a steady undertone and showed a small net gain. General Motors and the recently strong Studebaker were behind minus signs.

Westinghouse Electric, Douglas Aircraft and Eastman Kodak were among the few to lose a point or more. Certain-teed Products preferred continued its upswing with a gain of better than a point.

FINNISH TROOPS FALL BACK FROM ADVANCED LINES

the Mannerheim line, acting as telephone operators and dispatch riders to relieve more men for the actual fighting. All the women carried revolvers for self-defense.

There were reports that the Russians had occupied the town of Summa, which has been reduced to a ghastly wreckage by the Russian artillery shells and aerial bombs that have hammered it since the Carelian offensive began 16 days ago.

Finnish authorities indicated, however, that the Finns had taken up new positions in the Summa sector and that they were doing their utmost to stem the Russian advance. Russian patrols, however, were believed to have entered the town.

Soviet Claims Advance

(The soviet war communique issued at Moscow claimed the Red army troops had captured 53 defensive fortification in one of the greatest advances they have staged since the offensive began.

"Soviet troops," the announcement said, "continued successful actions on the Carelian Isthmus. The enemy is retreating to the rear and abandoning arms and war materials and suffering serious losses.

("Soviet forces approached the Kamara station and occupied 53 defensive fortifications, including 21 reinforced concrete artillery forts. There was patrol activity in other sectors and a number of clashes between infantry units in some areas.

("Our planes successfully raided enemy troops and military objectives. Six enemy planes were shot down in combat.")

Bomb Central Finland

Reports to Helsinki stated that 40 Russian planes raided Kajana in central Finland, dropping half a ton of explosive bombs and hundreds of incendiary missiles. Four persons were killed.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A Helsinki dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph said the Russian advance on the Isthmus neared Leipaesuo, 20 miles from Viborg on the Leningrad railroad. The strain on the Finnish defenders was becoming marked, the dispatch added.)

The Russian advances were scored despite Red army casualties estimated at some 10,000 men during the past two days. Latest advices from the front said the Soviets were pressing against the entire Mannerheim line from the Gulf of Finland to Lake Ladoga with undiminished force, although the Summa sector still bore the brunt of the assault.

One eye-witness who returned to Helsinki from the battle zone declared the Russians were sweeping toward the Finnish lines near Summa with gigantic mechanized forces.

Mass Of Tanks In Action

A vast mass of Russian tanks, he declared, was advancing 10 abreast and seven in line.

"The Red attack is like sheer madness," he said.

Renewed activity also was reported from Finland's northern war zones. On the Salla front the Finns were reported carrying out patrol activity behind the lines in which the Russians are entrenched between Salla and Maerkaejaervi. The Finns were said to be harrassing Russian communications and supplies.

Similar bitter fighting was reported still in progress around the Kuhmo area, while on the fronts just north of Lake Ladoga a series of Russian attacks were repulsed.

As on the Mannerheim line, units of the women's corps joined the Finnish soldiers on the northern fronts, and their presence was said to have greatly encouraged the worn and out-numbered Finnish troops.

The girls, wearing trousers, sweaters and mufflers, were constantly under fire as they served coffee to infantrymen and machine gunners who remained tirelessly at their posts.

BOY SLEDRIDING CRUSHED BY TRUCK

driving out of the quarry with a load of limestone screenings at that time, but who stated that he was not aware that his truck had struck anyone.

Sharoldi stated that after turning out onto the highway, he had looked into his rear vision mirror to see if some boys who were standing at the intersection were going to try to hook onto the back of the truck. He did not see the Pezzulo boy, who, it is reported, was lying on his sled, which was stationary along the side of the road.

Will Have Inquest

The rear truck wheel, which is believed to have struck the boy, did not pass entirely over the body, and only the front part of the sled was damaged.

Sharoldi stated that after turning out onto the road he had slowly swung over to the right side of the highway, and the boy might have been struck while he was engaged in this operation, according to the story he told state police.

Coroner T. Frank Nugent, who also investigated the circumstances, stated that an inquest will be held Monday evening at Hillsville. He questioned four youths, who were companions of the dead youth and who were in the immediate vicinity at the time of the accident. They were Nick and James Patrouilo, Rocco Longo and Billy Mittica.

He was born in Hillsville, January 4, 1929.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by one brother, Michael Joseph, and four sisters, Helen, Frances, Mary and Virginia, and his grandmother.

Funeral services will take place Monday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Lawrence church, with the Rev. Father Ettore Moscoloni officiating. Burial will be in St. Lawrence cemetery.

Hull Is Against British Convoy

Does Not Favor Convoy For U. S. Ships In Waters Near War Zone

ATTITUDE PLEASES GERMANY REPORT

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Feb. 16—Secretary of State Cordell Hull's statement that he does not favor acceptance of British convoys by American ships aroused wide interest and approval in Germany today.

Official German circles termed the American attitude an "example of a real endeavor to maintain strict neutrality."

(Editor's note: Secretary of State Hull made his statement regarding British convoys yesterday after authorities in London broadly invited American ships to take advantage of such convoys. The "debate" on this point arose after Germany issued a warning that she considered that she had a legal right to sink American and other neutral ships entering the Britash contraband control ports.)

To Reject Dutch Protest

In contrast to their attitude toward the United States official German circle indicated the Reich would issue a sharp rejection of a stiff Netherlands protest to Berlin against the torpedoing of the Dutch steamer Burgerdijk.

It was stated that the Dutch protest was not warranted by the facts.

(Editor's Note: Reports from the Hague indicated that the Netherlands government, in protesting against loss of the ship, has asked total reimbursement from the Reich.)

Berlin authorities were highly indignant over the Dutch protest and made no effort to disguise their feelings.

They said the torpedoeing of the Burgerdijk conformed with every provision of international law and claimed, furthermoore, that the Dutch vessel itself had violated the rules of neutrality.

These German quarters took the view that the attitude of the Dutch government is entirely unneutral. Holland was accused of "blaming Germany one-sidedly" and accusing her without regard to the facts or the British blocade.

"All of this is being given the closest attention here" officials commented angrily.

Farm Management Problems Discussed

County Farmers Have Meeting At Farm Bureau Office Thursday

Farm Management problems were discussed by a group of Lawrence County farmers at a meeting in the rooms of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extention Association, on Thursday afternoon.

E. J. Moffitt, of the Department of Farm Management at Penn State College was to have been present to speak and lead the discussion but was unable to get here because of bad road conditions and the discussion was led by County Agent R. H. McCulloch.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

GROW PIGS RAPIDLY FOR BEST RESULTS

Fall pigs being fed for market require attention differing from that usually given spring pigs raised on pasture. Fall pigs ordinarily are raised in confinement and don't receive the vitamins from the sun and the vitamins and succulent materials from pasture. These must be supplied in some other form.

Numerous experiments conducted at agricultural experiment stations show that when a protein mixture consisting of 50 per cent tankage, 25 per cent ground alfalfa, and 25 per cent of either linseed oilmeal or soybean meal is used to balance the ration, better results are obtained than when tankage or fishmeal alone are used.

Even though good alfalfa hay is producerd on the farm, it often is impractical to grind it fine enough to mix with the ration. In that case, accumulated leaves in the mow can be used. If enough clean leaves are not available, good quality alfalfa hay may be placed in a rack where it always will be available to the animals.

Occasionally, fall pigs raised in confinement develop rickets. The most noticeable symptoms of this condition are enlargement of hock and knee joints and lameness. Adding one tablespoon of cod liver oil to the ration each day for each 100 pounds liveweight will aid in the control of rickets.

Mange and lice can cause serious losses and must be guarded against. Lice can be controlled by using crankcase oil. Dipping or spraying with a solution of lime sulfur, using one part of concentrated solution to 20 to 25 parts of water, will check mange.

Exercise is important for keeping pigs in good health. They should receive as much exercise in the open air as possible. It is also important to provide dry shelter free from drafts. Changing the bedding frequently will give the pigs a dry place in which to sleep and will keep the pens clean and sanitary.

The pigs must be kept on full feed if they are to make rapid gains and be ready for market in March and April when hog prices usually are best. Slow gains may make it necessary either to sell the pigs during the summer when prices are lower or to carry them until fall. This entails a long, expensive feeding period. There is also the possibility of a discount in prices if the pigs are too heavy to meet market requirements.

BIRDS MUST DRINK TO PRODUCE EGGS

The importance of normal water consumption by laying hens cannot be overemphasized. Water is an aid to digestion, controls body temperature, lubricates joints and muscles and is an important part of the structure of the hen's body and her product, the egg.

Cold weather slumps in production can be caused by decreased water consumption just as it can by insufficient intake of feed. Ordinarily, birds drink little water on cold days, but they will drink more if the water is slightly warmed. Egg production will be improved. Experimental work shows a direct relationship between per cent of egg production and amount of water consumed.

Various devices are available for use in warming water for the laying flock. If these are not used, poultrymen will find it profitable to replenish the water supply frequently, placing warmed water in the drinking pans. There is little advantage in getting birds up early in the morning with artificial lights if a good supply of clean, fresh, warmed water is not available.

IMPROVE POTATO QUALITY BY USING CERTIFIED SEED

The consuming public is becoming more and more critical of the potatoes it buys. Each year critical consumers look for potatoes that are of higher quality than the ones they used the year previously.

The only way for the producer to meet this changing demand is to produce a better grade of potato. The control or elimination of such problems as the stem-end rots and other tuber blemishes by planting vigorous, disease-free, well-stored seed is one method for bringing about potato improvement.

Since potatoes grown last season from certified seed are suitable for seed this year, most growers will have no difficulty securing satisfactory tubers for planting. It is important that the tubers were well stored. The real problem this spring is to secure certified seed from which to grow planting stock for next year. Order certified seed early.

FEBRUARY IS A BUSY MONTH FOR GARDENERS

February is the month when all broken twigs on shrubs or evergreens which have been damaged by heavy snowfall or ice should be removed. Use a pair of sharp shears for the operation.

Narcissus and daffodil bulbs are excellent for indoor forming and may be started at this time. It is best to buy the bulbs from a reliable source. Place them in containers filled with pebbles. These bulblet plants provide much enjoyment for the flower lover, he has found.

February is also a good month for moving large trees, particularly if the soil about the foot systems is frozen solid. Snow or ice on the ground will simplify matters by making it possible to use a sled for moving the trees.

Protect broadleaf evergreens from the strong rays of the winter sun by using evergreen boughs or burlap fastened on heavy supports.

Don't forget to encourage birdlife to gather around the grounds. Your neighborhood butcher will have meat scraps and suet that can be attached to some of your trees.

PACK LUNCHES WITH HOT FOOD FOR BETTER HEALTH

All reports show that children having a hot food at noon gain weight more rapidly, are better physically, are absent less from school, do better school work and are better behaved. A good lunch with something hot makes this difference.

If this is true with children, we can expect similar results with adults. Miss Julia Markel, home economics extension representative, Lawrence county, believes. Providing something hot at noon is an easy task for the homemaker with young children and whose husband comes home for lunch. However, for many women this is not so simple, for they must pack lunch boxes for children and husbands.

There are four ways to meet the problem of something hot for the away-from-home lunch a lunch box with a thermos bottle, a small amount of money for each one to buy a hot food, provisions in the school for a hot dish at noon, or equipment for a pint jar lunch.

The simplest but also perhaps the most expensive way to include a hot food is the thermos bottle, says Miss Markle. Children and fathers may use the school cafeteria or in some cases nearby restaurants to buy a hot food. The rest of the lunch carried from home should be planned so that with the hot food there is a well-balanced lunch.

Many rural schools now provide a hot dish especially during the winter. Even the one-room rural school which has a flat-top stove can provide a pint-jar lunch for the children. She points out that a wash boiler or large kettle in which to heat the jars of food is all that is needed. The jars are filled at home with a food that heats satisfactorily.

Miss Markle suggests the following foods that can be carried either in a thermos bottle or pint jar: soups of all kinds, cocoa, hot spiced milk, heated tomato juice. Adults may prefer tea or coffee as their hot item.

Seeing that everyone has something hot isn't too difficult. Its value to the family, says Miss Markle, cannot be measured in dollars and cents, but it has an even greater value which is better health for our families.

Miss Markle will be glad to give you further help on the different types of school lunches. You can reach her at the Agricultural Extension office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.
